

Breast Cancer Now The Spectacular South Devon Coastal Challenge Friday 4th – Sunday 6th May 2018

1. The South Devon Coastal Challenge!

The scenery along the South Devon Coast is quite simply spectacular and our challenge is to walk the 21 miles of this wonderful coast between Mothercombe and Plymouth. This section of coast is also a lot quieter than elsewhere in Devon, so we will really be able to enjoy the natural beauty of the area; dramatic cliff top paths with extensive sea views, hidden coves with tranquil sandy bays, traditional fishing villages complete with welcoming inns and cafes! Most of the route is on good country tracks and footpaths and there a few ups and downs to add a little challenge.

Day 1: Saturday

Battisborough Cross, Mothercombe to Noss Mayo

After breakfast we will hop on the coach which will take us to the start of our walk in Battisborough Cross. From here we have a gentle warm up walk along some meandering lanes to Mothercombe where we get our first view of the coast; the secluded Erme Estuary! From here we place the sea on our left and begin the walking along the coastal tracks. Around the first headland lies golden sands of Meadowsfoot Beach and the picture perfect Mothercombe Bay. Our route now climbs gentle above the high cliffs and makes its way around the isolated smugglers coves and bays! The magnificent South West Coastal Path leads us onto Stokes we will descend to visit the ancient Church of St Peters. Our track continues along a road Victorian ride which provides nice easy social walking as we continue around Blackstone Point where we gain great views along the estuary. The coastline now follows the estuary inland through the bluebell clad wood into the hidden villages of Noss Mayo and Newton Ferrers where we will conclude the day in a friendly inn or inviting tea shop

Distance 11 miles with 1,500ft of ascent

Day 2: Sunday

Wembrey, Warren Point, Mount Batten & Plymouth

Today is one of the nicest walks in the country, full of great views, history villages and even the odd ice cream shop and café! We begin on the opposite bank of the estuary to yesterday, in Wembrey. Once again easy farm tracks and lanes allow our legs a gentle warm up as we make our way down to the coast to reveal a superb view of the end of Saturdays' walk. Now we turn west and follow the coastal path through to a lovely bay with a very nice café for morning coffee. From here its once again sea on our left and off we go. We pass Blackstone rocks, Wembrey Point, Audurn Point and Bovisand Bay and Jennycliff Bay before reaching Dunstone Point and Mount Batten Tower. Now its onto a ferry to sail back across to the Citadel and Plymouth. Finally, we make our way along the quayside and across Plymouth Hoe and the conclusion of our route!

Distance 10 miles with 1,200ft of ascent

2. Accommodation and What's Included In The Price!

The Duke of Cornwall, Plymouth's original character hotel, is a true treasure in the heart of Devon's city-by-the sea. Built during the Golden Age of steam, the Duke of Cornwall, was Plymouth's first luxury hotel and continues to provide first class accommodation today, with towers and turrets, ballrooms, oak panels, elaborate ceiling roses, Sir John Betjeman, Poet described The Duke of Cornwall "as one of the nation's finest examples of Victorian architecture". Indeed, in 1988 a restoration programme began, which exposed the building's original features, engravings and moldings making it the special place it is today. There are 72 rooms and suites, each with a unique view, some coastal, some cityscape. The restaurant holds 2 RAC Blue Ribbons and it is an AA Rosette award winning Restaurant, so we'll be well fed too. Add to this is prominent position in the town, being, just minutes from the train stations, the excellent Theatre Royal and the lively Barbican and marina area. In fact, it's the perfect base from which to explore the beautiful South West. Naturally all the hotel bedrooms are well appointed, en suite and come with all the usual facilities including telephone, radio alarm, hair dryer, digital freeview TV, tea and coffee making facilities and trouser press. 24-hour room service and internet access is also available. Oh and the hotel works closely with McCauleys Health Club which is two walk from the hotel and can offer you a discounted session rate.

Friday Night

We will aim to start the event by meeting everyone in the bar on the Friday night at 7pm. You will have the chance to meet your fellow participants and make some new friends. 5. Preparing yourself for the Event

The South Devon Coastal Challenge is a physically demanding event. You will be walking along the coast for two days and each of these days will consist of up to 11.0 miles, and the coast is not flat, there are a number of ups and downs along the way. If you are not used to walking, or taking regular exercise, then you ought to prepare yourself.

Your body needs breaking in and occasional maintenance too! If you prepare yourself gradually you will enjoy the event even more. It is best, less painful and much easier to build up your fitness levels gradually! If you exercise regularly, go swimming, play squash once a week or consider yourself to be averagely fit already, then you have a good starting point, but it is best get used to walking as well. Following these guidelines will help your body prepare for the event:

Getting used to your Boots!

Simply walking around your home and going shopping in your boots will allow your feet to get used to them. This will help to prevent unnecessary blisters and pain, almost always a good thing! Nevertheless, this is not sufficient, it is useful to prepare yourself a little bit more, and the best way to do this is to walk!

Building up your Fitness

The simplest changes in your everyday life can make the biggest difference.

- If you are popping out to the shops, then slip into your boots and walk instead of taking the car.
- If you go to work on the bus or tube, make a resolution to walk to the next stop or get off a stop early.
- Once a week during your lunch hour take a brisk walk around the park.
- To get yourself used to ascent and descent, make a resolution not to use the lift! Using the stairs regularly is a very effective tool in preparing your body for climbing in the hills.

Go on some half day walks

To build up your stamina, it is a good idea to actually go on a walk! On a couple of days off, have a walk in the park or go the local countryside. Buy a local guide book of short walks, perhaps get some friends together and just do it! Walks which end with a pub lunch seem to be extremely popular!

Try to do 2 or 3 half-day walks over the next few months and gradually build up the distance you do.

Try some full day walks

After doing some half-day walks, try a couple of full day walks. Keep increasing the distance until you feel happy with your own ability.

This is the best and most effective way to prepare yourself for the event.

Remember the event is not a flat out race, it is fun challenge event and a good fitness level will help you to get the most out of it!
